

Voicemail Blasting Module

THIS WIKI HAS BEEN UPDATED FOR VERSION 13 OF YOUR PBX GUI

What is the Voicemail Blasting Module used for?

Voicemail blasting lets you send a voicemail message to multiple users at the same time. The Voicemail Blasting module is used to create a group of users and assign a number to the group. A user can dial this number to leave a voicemail message for the group. All members of the group will receive the message in their voicemail boxes.

This module can be very useful for organizations that routinely use voicemail as a preferred method of communication. When combined with voicemail to email, this can be a powerful tool for getting important information out quickly and easily. On systems utilizing speech recognition, the groups can be integrated into speech applications.

How is the Voicemail Blasting Module related to the other modules?

The Voicemail Blasting module allows you to broadcast voice mail messages to large groups of users at one time

How do I get to the Voicemail Blasting module?
